4 Easy Steps To Get Started:

These are four things that we need from you to get your site started...

1. Your Domain Name: Your first decision is whether you use the name of your company as your domain name (the domain name is what follows the www, example: WWW.webhandler.com) or if you use a word or words that summarize your service or product. If you will rely on advertising or promotion to bring in visitors then using your company name makes the most sense. If you plan to bring in new customers via search engines, then your primary service or product should be embedded in the domain. The domain name is one of the six criteria search engines check when they decide how high to rank you in a search. For some search engines it makes the difference between a high ranking and a low one. Please let us register your domain name. Transferring, renewing or packing domain names is one of the most common challenges in our industry.
2. Your Categorization System: People have the shortest attention spans when they are on the Internet. Making your message quick and easy to read is essential. This means your site has to load quickly. To make an immediate clear impression means you have to categorize your service or product into an easy to understand categories that will load quickly. We will guide you to not overwhelm any one category with too many graphics or words. We create your navigation system to directly reflect the categories you use to communicate your message.
3. Your Graphic Choices: For some clients, like retailers, this is another challenging step. Picking 100 sku's from an inventory of 3000 items from 400 vendors can take time. We work from photographs, disks, e-mailed jpgs, transparencies, or brochure material. Many of our web site are created from vendor catalog sheets. Processing graphics is the most time consuming step when creating most web sites. Our staff is Fireworks experts. Tightening up contrast, cleaning up the color, deleting unrelated material, and dropping out backgrounds (to decrease loading time) often takes fifteen minutes per graphic. For most sites, the number of graphics will determine the cost of your site.
4. Choosing Your Text: We do not charge for text if you transmit it to us electronically. We just lift it from a disk or e-mail and drop it into your site. If there are sizable amounts of italics, bolds, or unusual indentations, we charge our normal hourly rate for the additional coding. Most sites, aside from academic sites (lots of italics), do not incur any charges. Copy for the web should be short, clear, concise and easy to read.

What To Do: You may request for web site services or ask our website experts (by fax, sms text, email or visit our website: www.webhandler.com) to evaluate your current website to determine the level of work on your website and we guarantee a detailed response within 48 hours! ~See contact info on the right~
